

Balance of payments – France • February 2019

Decrease in the balance of services

In February, the current account balance reached -0.8 billion euros (seasonally and working-day adjusted data), after a surplus of +0.3 billion in January.

This deterioration was mainly explained by the decrease in the balance of services, which stood at 1.4 billion euros in February, after 2.7 billion euros in the previous month. In particular, the surplus of travel services went down by 0.8 billion euros. The deficit in goods remained relatively stable, at 2.8 billion euros.

In the financial account (non-adjusted data), foreign direct investments in France exceeded French direct investments abroad. Portfolio investments contributed to improving the international position by 9.5 billion euros. On the contrary, loans and deposits resulted in an increase of net liabilities by 9.8 billion euros.

Methodological notes relating to pages 1 and 3

(1) Data on trade in goods are FOB-FOB values, which means without cost, insurance and freight. This expenditure is recorded in the services item. Exchanges of goods cover General merchandise published by the Directorate General of Customs and Excise (DGDDI) on one side, merchandising and methodological adjustments calculated by the Banque de France, on the other side. In order to ensure the comparability of French balance of payments with those of other countries and conformity with the international standards, the international standard for Balance of Payments statistics is released under the aegis of the International Monetary Fund. The key concept for the balance of payments is the concept of economic ownership which is consistent with the national accounts.

(2) Services other than travel (tourism and professional travels), transport services, professional and management consulting services, R&D and development and technical services, trade-related and other business services include manufacturing, maintenance and repair, construction, insurance and pension services, financial services, charges for the use of intellectual property, telecommunication, computer and information services, personal, cultural and recreational services and government goods and services.

(3) Income includes primary and secondary incomes. Primary income refers to the flows received by economic agents for their participation in the production process ("compensation of employees") or for the provision of financial assets ("investment income") or for the rental of natural resources ("rent"). Taxes and subsidies on products and production are also included in primary income. Secondary income records current transfers between residents and non-residents. A transfer is a transaction that involves the provision of a good, service, financial asset or another non-produced asset without receiving something of economic value in exchange.

(4) The "other investment" (loans and deposits) component of the financial account includes all transactions in financial assets and liabilities with non-residents that do not concern direct investment, portfolio investment, financial derivatives or reserve assets. In practice, this mainly concerns bank deposits and interbank lending, as well as loans and deposits made by insurance companies and all kinds of investment companies and funds.
