In the third quarter of 2016, the debt to GDP ratio of the private non-financial sector grows by a 0.4 point (after an increase by 1.3 point in the second quarter). The non-financial corporations (NFC) debt ratio is broadly stable (69.7 % of GDP) whereas the households debt ratio grows by 0.3 point (56.4 % of GDP).

Simultaneously, the public debt ratio decreases by 0.9 point in Q2, reaching 97.6% of GDP. This diminution is due to the calendar of issuance of Agence France Tresor which is traditionally higher in the first semester.

In the third quarter of 2016, the private non-financial sector debt slows down (+ 0.8% after 1.6% in Q2). Indeed, the growth rate of NFCs debt decelerates significantly (+ 0.6% after + 2.2 % in Q2). However, the household debt keeps on growing, at a faster pace than in Q2 (+ 1.0 after + 0.8 %).

By contrast, the general government debt decreases (fall in the outstanding amount by 0.5 %).

Additional information

Private sector is defined as non-financial corporations (NFCs) and households (including non-profit institutions serving households). The household sector debt covers all external financing (i.e. monetary and financial institutions -MFI- loans). The NFCs debt is defined as the sum of outstanding amounts of MFI loans and issued securities other than shares. Regarding loans, the debt concept excludes both loans between resident NFCs and between non-resident NFCs (in the case of multinational enterprises). The NFCs outstanding amount of debt is recorded at nominal value, i.e. the repayment value of the principal. The outstanding amount of loans and debt securities denominated in foreign currency is converted into euros using the exchange rate information of the reference period.
